

The National Archives [UK] tutorial in paleography and many helps www.nationalarchives.gov.uk/palaeography/

An excellent tutorial and orientation to reading old manuscripts as well as an introduction to Scottish terms
www.scottishhandwriting.com/

Primarily coordinated at Cambridge University with resources from King's College and others in Great Britain. Do not worry, it is aimed at those who are starting and those who want to improve their skills.
www.english.cam.ac.uk/eres/ehoc/

Visible examples to let you see the handwriting in context
www.btinternet.com/~tylcoat/handwrit.htm

The University of Houston presents more advanced handwriting examples and practice sheets
aalt.law.uh.edu/IndexPri.html

The National Archives [UK] tutorial in Latin and many helps www.nationalarchives.gov.uk/latin/beginners/

Simple Latin for Family Historians at McLaughlin Guides at Amazon.co.uk:
www.amazon.co.uk/eve-mclaughlin/s/qid=1239405110/ref=sr_pg_3?ie=UTF8&rs=&keywords=Eve%20McLaughlin&rh=i%3Aaps%2Ck%3AEve%20McLaughlin&page=3

About.com presents a quick overview genealogy.about.com/od/paleography/a/old_handwriting.htm

Two articles about something that occurred uniquely in Great Britain and how to deal with it en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Gregorian_Calendar genealogy.about.com/od/dates/a/converting.htm